CPE Italia CP

E Italia focuses on fiber optic interconnection solutions, producing several thousand cables annually. They provide engineering services for broadband and fiber optic infrastructure, supporting both domestic and international projects. Selsor Selsor manufactures copper and optical fiber cables, offering structured cabling systems with warranties up to 25 years.

Their optical fiber cables are designed for high reliability in data centers, industrial automation, and FTTH networks, meeting international standards and ensuring long-term performance. B3 International B3 International produces optical fiber and copper cabling systems for applications including LAN, CCTV, industrial automation, and fiber-to-the-X networks. They emphasize quality, international standards compliance, and rapid installation solutions, with a presence in Europe, North America, the Middle East, and Asia-Pacific.

Additional Notable Manufacturers

Other Italian companies involved in fiber optic cable production include Fibermind, Sirti Telco Infrastructures, Fastweb, TECNIKABEL, and Optoplast, which provide specialized solutions for telecommunications, high-definition video transmission, and structured cabling systems.

Summary

Italy hosts a robust fiber optic cable manufacturing sector, with companies offering standard single-mode and multimode cables, hybrid copper-fiber solutions, and FTTH-ready products. These manufacturers combine high-quality production, international certifications, and innovative installation technologies, making them reliable partners for both domestic and global optical network projects.
